

This acrylic painting, "Nasturtiums," is by Terri Sacré, an administrative analyst at Mercy San Juan Medical Center who works closely with physicians. It originated with a series of photos taken two years ago in the herb garden of Freestone Bakery, in the small town of Freestone near Bodega. It took her about 6 months to complete the painting, working in her spare time.